

16th Annual Metchosin Sheep Dog Trial July 18-20 2008

Once again, we are looking forward to welcoming top national and international working sheepdogs and their handlers to the 16th Annual Metchosin Sheepdog Trial, which is held in Metchosin at the south-western tip of Vancouver Island. The trial site is renowned for its scenic vistas and pastoral beauty. The warm support and hospitality extended by the local community receives favorable and appreciative comments by handlers and spectators from far and near. The trial has now become one of the most popular and well-supported trials in the Pacific Northwest.

This has now become a citywide known event and there is always a large turnout of spectators from various dog venues as well as the public at large. Last year we had well over 300 people visit the trial.

Over the years, we have been blessed with the generous and constant support of many businesses and interested individuals. We are looking forward to working with past and new supporters this year.
